Summary

I'm currently a third-year student at Jesus and Mary College, majoring in Political Science and minoring in English. Alongside my academic pursuits, I've embarked on a parallel journey within the film industry, which has been quite rewarding in nurturing my passion for acting while emphasizing the significance of education as a tool for personal development. Today, the relevance of political science as a means to enhance political awareness to drive further change cannot be overstated. My aspiration is to unite the realms of art and politics, recognizing the potential synergy between these apparently distinct spheres since it could have the power to bring about subtle yet significant changes. My ardor for acting goes hand in hand with my thirst for learning and my dedication to fostering meaningful dialogues. In harmony with these convictions, I'm deeply interested in contributing to the Human Resources domain, with a specific focus on HR recruitment. The diverse array of individuals encountered in the film industry, from the inspirational to those who challenge one's mettle, has equipped me with invaluable interpersonal skills. At present, I'm actively seeking opportunities to further my growth across these various facets, including internships and research and development roles. My ultimate aim is to make a meaningful impact and drive positive change.
